I can see a hill.

I can see the sun.

A painting of a church at night. The church has two tall, pointed spires. The windows are lit from within, casting a warm glow. The sky is dark blue and black, with a bright yellow full moon in the upper right. A yellow lightning bolt strikes the sky in the upper left. The overall style is expressive and somewhat somber.

I do not see the sun.

A painting of a sunset over a body of water. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright orange and yellow glow across the sky and reflecting on the water. A small sailboat is visible on the right side of the water. The sky is filled with soft, colorful clouds in shades of orange, yellow, and blue.

Do you see the sun?

Yes, I do.
